YOWIE GROUP ANNOUNCES SUCCESSFUL COMMISSIONING OF WRAPPING MACHINE IN GERMANY

Yowie Group Ltd (the "Company" or "Yowie") is pleased to announce the successful commissioning this week of its high speed, technically advanced, leading edge wrapping machine at Rasch in Germany. Additional functioning has been integrated into the operational process to accommodate the robotic components of the Yowie confectionery manufacturing process.

Rasch GmbH specializes in foil wrapping chocolate novelty shapes. Their broad equipment range covers nearly any size, shape, and wrapping style.

After the completion of a thorough commissioning of the machine, under the careful supervision of Yowie chocolate manufacturing expert Hank Whetstone, the machine is now in transit to the Yowie manufacturing plant in St Augustine Florida. The shipping transfer is expected to take around two weeks. The successful commissioning in Germany activates all warranty and supplier assurances.

Mr Whetstone will also oversee the installation and on site final commissioning at St Augustine, in conjunction with a Rasch engineer, in preparation for manufacturing trials due to commence in June in time for US market rollout in October.

Factory and on site commissioning of the wrapping machine is another significant step in realising the Company's planned rollout into the US market, reinforcing Yowie Group Ltd's strategy and commitment to becoming a respected and successful global brand company.

Yours sincerely,
